

GET READY for your loan servicer to CHANGE

Do you know who your student loan servicer is? If it is Fedloan, Navient or Granite State, it is possible that your loans will be moving to a different servicer. This change will not affect your loan's interest rate, terms, or available repayment plans.

What can you do to prepare?

-  Know who your servicer is. Log into studentaid.gov to view your current servicer's contact information.
-  Update your contact information with your servicer.
-  Visit your current servicer's website to review your student loan balance.
-  Download all account transactions and any other communication related to your loan.
-  Be sure to fully read information received from your new servicer about your loan.
-  Look for more communication from your current servicer and the Department of Education about the loan transfer.
